Congratulations to Mrs. W. F. Runge whose installation as Commander of Clara D. Noyes Santa Clara County Women's American Legion Post will take place this evening!

Mrs. Runge, as nurse and dean of girls at Campbell High school, is one of an outstanding faculty who have earned Campbell schools their rating in California's educational system—and that means a place of honor throughout the whole nation.

Women legionnaires and ex-service women of both World Wars will gather for the ceremonies this evening at the Memory Post Home, San Jose.

More play space for Campbell's youngsters is in prospect for the Community Recreation Council fall and winter program. In response to pleas last week, three offers have been received to date.

Local Church of Christ has offered use of three lots on which it plans to build a new church edifice. Meanwhile, use of the ground will be turned over to the Council so that supervised play can continue through the coming months.

The Congregational Church and Mrs. Eva Grattam have also offered space for the program.

We'll join the small fry in cheers for this kind of cooperation.

Santa Clara prunes are due to enrich the diet of suffering Europe and other war-torn areas this winter.

Dried fruit packers of the district are preparing sale bids today in which an estimated 30,000 tons of prunes will be purchased by the U.S. Government for foreign relief. Deadline for initial offers is 5 p.m. Wednesday next, says R. M. Walker of the Western Production and Marketing Administration.

So the Santa Clara prune, already world famous for its sweetness and health-giving properties, continues in its role as a life-saving agent throughout this hungry world.

Looking backward through the misty vista of days past, these things were planned or done or said in our town: Farmers are admonished, "don't risk your limbs or your neck pruning with a tumble-down ladder when 'The best in use' can be obtained for 25 cents a foot."

A small mystery developed when "a number of mustaches have recently disappeared from the faces of some of our young men. It must have been caused by an epidemic or cyclone, we are not certain which."

The distant era of the "nineties" was also fraught with its attendant dangers to life and limb in the occupational pursuits of the day as witness the news of February 26, 1896—"An ugly cut on the hand accidentally made while shoeing a horse has laid John Neff off from his work during the past week."

And on this item we cannot quite make up our mind whether sarcasm or seriousness was intended: "a number of the small boys of Campbell have gone into training as a fire department. Several have practiced on a brush fire near the corner of Campbell and Central avenues and are becoming quite proficient."

On second thought we've just about made up our editorial mind that the writing gent who preceded us by fifty years in this task had a subtle wit and satirical twist to his nature, as witness this gem: "Some very public spirited (?) person carried off a can of coal oil from the hall a week or so ago. The oil belonged to the Y.M.C.A. band and no doubt the one who took it will read his evening paper hereafter with increased satisfaction, since his light costs him nothing. The band foots the bill."

(Aside from ye present Ed.) This just goes to prove that the P. G. & E. has performed a perhaps unthought-of public service—the elimination of light-stealing. It would be very difficult indeed to get away with a can of volts and watts.

And just to end this column on a cheerful note "San Francisco carpenters are preparing to demand $3.50 per day and eight hours for a day's work . . . and the half-soling of ladies' or gent's shoes has risen to 35c. Ho Hum!"

(All of this of course was 1895).

REBUILDING OF WINCHESTER LUMBER YARD IS IN PROGRESS

Reconstruction of the Winchester Lumber company yard began last Thursday, within a few hours of a $75,000 fire that leveled the mill at Winchester Road and Casey street, Wednesday night.

Salvage crews began clearing the yard Thursday in preparation for a new building and all equipment lost in the fire was re-ordered Friday morning.

Twenty-day delivery of the saws, re-saw and other machinery has been promised, W. H. Weeks, yard manager, said.

Ledgers of the company and other valuables including some $50 in currency, were found intact after the blaze, inside the office safe.

Ray Gilpatrick and Gus Standish owners, forced the safe open and found everything in order, although the outside of the safe was heated red-hot during the fire.

Trucks belonging to the company and some lumber supplies stacked outside the mill were saved at the time of the disaster.

VOTE DATE SET FOR DAM IN VALLEY WATER PROJECT

LAST 50 MILLION FRUIT CROP, LOCAL GROWER WARNS

Election date for the proposed $2,500,000 Lexington Dam on Los Gatos creek was set for Tuesday, October 7, to be held at 60 consolidated voting places in the Santa Clara Water Conservation District.

About 65,000 voters are eligible to cast ballots in the bond election. All will be sent election notices by the County Clerk's office. A two-thirds majority is necessary for bond approval.

In a statistical report by the district, it was stated that "it is probable that pumping from underground water wells will continue from now on at about 120,000 acre-feet annually. However, with present facilities, total percolation each year cannot be increased beyond 100,000 acre-feet, 20,000 more annually than can be replaced with existing means."

The report said that the proposed Lexington Dam would store 25,000 acre-feet of water when full. It was estimated that eight billion gallons a year flow from the Los Gatos creek into the San Francisco bay.

S. D. Farrington, district water board chairman, said in announcing the election date:

"The principle obstacle to the dam at the Lexington site was removed by the state legislature. After holding many hearings, the legislature decided that the proposed dam was so necessary to the property of the valley that it appropriated $2,475,000 to meet the costs of moving the Santa Cruz-Los Gatos highway—if the people vote to build the dam. The action of the state has cut the cost of the project in half."

Those attending the board meeting to set the voting date were: L. O. Wilcox, J. E. Wiesendanger, R. L. Perry, C. G. Spargur, W. S. Pfeifle, Harry G. Mitchell, G. Walter Hunt and Atty. Herbert C. Jones.

Unless steps are taken to increase the water supply, Santa Clara Valley will never realize another $50,000,000 fruit crop, Frank L. Steindorf, prominent Campbell fruit grower, warned this week after his appointment as chairman of the $2,500,000 Lexington Dam bond election committee.

Steindorf, who played a strong part in urging the re-routing of the Santa Cruz-Los Gatos highway by the state legislature, was appointed by the Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District. He said that he would select his bond campaign committee soon.

"The election October 7 to decide whether we will build a storage dam on Los Gatos creek is the most important day of this year for the people of Santa Clara valley," he said.

"Water is the single question mark in our future. We can't continue to grow a $50,000,000 fruit crop; we can't continue to invite new industries, and the valley won't continue to be a prosperous and wonderful place in which to live if we don't stop our falling water level."

"Everyone knows we need more water. Yet every year we waste the flood waters of Los Gatos creek, the finest remaining source of water in the valley. The Lexington Dam would store eight billion gallons of vital water."

"The state was concerned enough over the situation to appropriate $2,475,000 to move the Santa Cruz-Los Gatos highway, and the voters have got to vote the bond on October 7 to take advantage of this offer. Everyone in the valley has a stake in the election. Everyone should get out and vote," he said.

Complimentary Copies Of Press Distributed This Week; Hundreds To Receive "Get Acquainted" Issue

So many brand new homes in the Campbell district are now receiving their house-warming touches from their proud possessors that we at the Campbell Press want to light the welcome lamp with a heart-felt "howdy-do."

The editor and manager of your local paper are likewise new residents to Campbell but already feel that we are a living, moving part of this delightful community. Our welcome was sincere and heart-warming so we in turn want to pass along the same feeling to others new to the district.

With this in mind we have this week doubled our circulation and are giving a complimentary copy of the Press to all the new families in the rural area surrounding Campbell. If you like our paper and would like to receive the news of your neighbors each week, a phone call, postal card or personal call at our office on the corner of Campbell avenue and First street, is all you need to have the paper delivered to you each week.

Community Events Planned

According to local business men and civic leaders there are many plans being made for civic affairs of interest to the residents for this fall and winter season. Community spirit which usually lags during the summer months due to the influence of crop-harvesting, vacations and plain old warm weather, is due for a revival. We know of some plans now being made, which just at the moment we are not at liberty to talk about, that are of genuine interest to all of us in the Campbell area. So, it's pretty obvious isn't it, that to really know what goes on, and what is going to happen will be reported in the Press? Perhaps all this sounds like a plea for subscribers. Ah! You guessed it, folks.

WAR NURSE

SHE was born in War's grim garden,
A rose of the battlefield,
Baptized under hell and fire
While the world around her reeled.

She stayed at the front against orders
And when GI gripes began
One Joe cried "If she can take it,
I am sure we soldiers can!"

Mercy's angel in a helmet,
She knew many a prison hell;
She lived and died like a soldier,
To the wounded she was "Swell!"

With the war she's been forgotten
Like the strains of "Over There,"
But each soldier boy remembers
Some brave War Nurse in his prayer.

New Driving Rules Effective Soon

Drivers of motor vehicles in California must make several important changes in their driving practices as the result of amendments to the State Vehicle Code adopted by the 1947 session of the legislature. Issuing a summary of the major new regulations, the California Automobile Association urged motorists to become familiar with the changes in anticipation of their effective date, September 19.

Principal changes are: Right turns against a red light will be permitted when traffic is clear except where a sign prohibiting such a turn is posted. Under the old law such a turn was prohibited unless a sign authorizing it was posted.

Drivers of vehicles traveling at less than normal speed will be required to keep to the right hand lane.

Passing to the right of another vehicle by driving off the paved or main traveled portion of the road is prohibited.

Hitch hikers are barred from standing in the roadway to solicit a ride, though they may stand on the road shoulder or curb.

Motorists crossing sidewalks are required to yield the right of way to approaching pedestrians. This is intended to protect pedestrians near parking lot, garage, service station and other driveways.

Any vehicle entering a through highway is required to come to a stop.

The law prohibiting unlawful riding has been broadened to include the driver as an offender if he knowingly permits a person to ride on the fenders, running board or other parts of a car where riding is forbidden.

Motorcycle operators must not carry any other person except in a sidecar or on a seat securely fastened behind the driver. Handgrips and foot rests must be provided for the passenger.

Speed contests on public highways are prohibited and all who participate are made parties to the crime. Officers may take offenders immediately before a magistrate. This new law is aimed at "hot rod" contests.

County Relief Payments Up

Relief payments to the needy in Santa Clara County for July totaled $314,304, compared with the $311,156 total for June, and the $254,207 for July, 1946, California Taxpayers' association said today, making public its study of relief trends in California counties.

June, 1947, was the peak month for total payments of aid to the needy in the county for the 1946-47 fiscal year, with $209,297 going to the needy aged, $11,570 to needy blind, $40,058 to dependent children, and $50,231 for general county relief to indigents.

Over the state as a whole, relief payments for July, 1947, totaled $12,065,104, compared with $11,977,992 for June, 1947, and $9,834,776 for July, 1946.

June, 1947, was the peak month, statewide, for total payments of aid to the needy during fiscal 1946-47. During this period, $9,074,122 was paid out in aid to the needy aged, $404,702 to needy blind, $1,276,816 to needy children, and $1,222,352 in general relief to county indigents.

"Strange paradox," the Taxpayers' association termed increasing relief costs in the face of 60,000,000 employed in the United States. "Every unnecessary increase in

Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is on vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

FORMULA FOR PEACE

Washington—James F. Byrnes, trigger-smart former secretary of state now practicing law in Washington, has been following the administration's foreign policy with intense interest. This is particularly true in regard to relations with Soviet Russia, with whom Byrnes had protracted, and at times painful, encounters during a number of conferences.

An old friend asked Byrnes if he thought it was possible for the U.S. and USSR to reach a better understanding. This was his reply:

"I think it is, and this is my formula. Get people who believe deeply that we can find a basis for working with the Russians. Then support these people to the limit. When they start getting discouraged and cynical, replace them with others who are confident that a solution can be found.

"As is evident, such a program would take time, patience, brains and courage. But I believe it would work. I certainly think it would be worthwhile trying. War is a terrifying alternative to consider."

AN ENGLISHMAN TALKS

Unhappiest newsmen in Washington are the British correspondents who covered negotiations over easing of the U.S. loan. The Englishmen took the proceedings very hard; as if they were an indignity on them personally.

Illustrative of their viewpoint was the outburst one gave vent to following Treasury Secretary John Snyder's press conference, in which he explained the U.S. plan to bail Britain out of its latest fiscal difficulty. Snyder was tactful and courteous. But as the newsmen left his office, a British correspondent turned to an American and said bitterly:

"The more I learn about my country's plight, the more I wonder what we got out of victory in the war. The Germans at least enjoyed the plunder of all Europe before being defeated and now they are living off the fat of America and whatever we can scrape together to send them. The Japs are downright happy under MacArthur's solicitous ministrations, and the Italians are doing very well for themselves."

NEW COOLIDGE

Massachusetts' GOP has a new Coolidge who is just as earthy, cautious and parsimonious with words and money as the late President Calvin Coolidge.

He is Lt. Gov. Arthur W. Coolidge, fourth cousin of "Silent Cal." Like his famed kin, Arthur also was formerly president of the Bay State senate, another of Calvin's stepping stones to the White House. Arthur resembles Cal in many respects, particularly in economy-mindedness.

Illustrative of this was an incident that occurred the first day Arthur took over the state's reins during a brief absence of Governor Robert Bradford. Looking out of the window, the acting governor observed the water-sprinkling system operating full force on the capital grounds. It was an overcast day, and suddenly a brisk summer shower broke. The sprinklers kept right on going.

Coolidge immediately telephoned the building superintendent, and demanded, "Why waste the taxpayers' money watering the grass when the good Lord is doing it for nothing? Shut off those sprinklers."

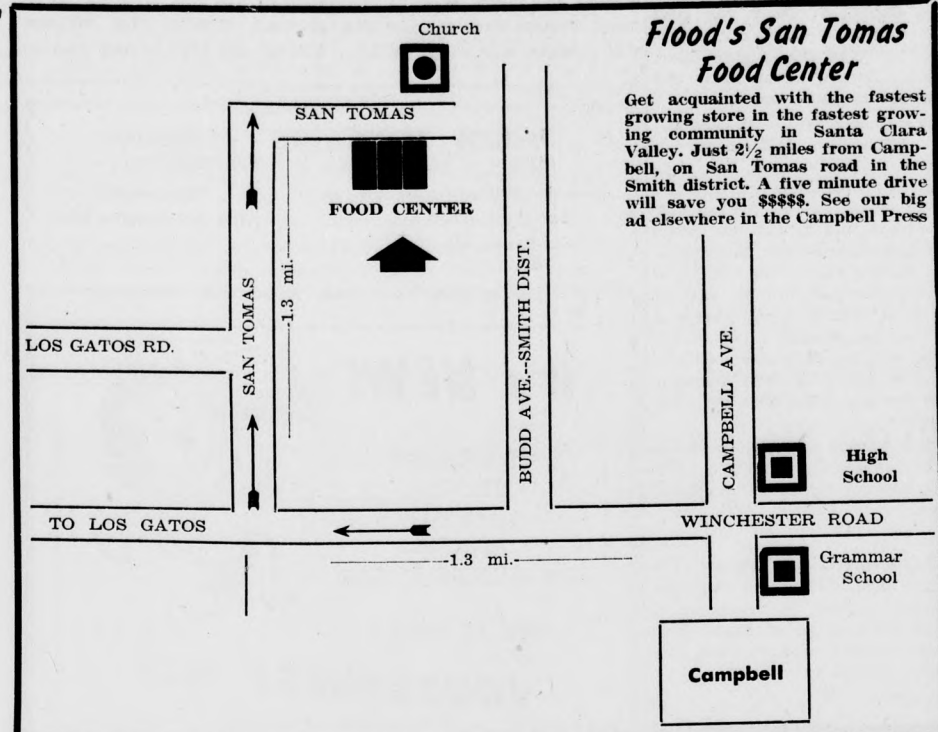

On another occasion, the lieutenant governor was luncheon host to a group of politicians and reporters at the Boston City club. They were handed menus presenting an enticing array of succulent a la carte selections. But before his guests could start ordering, Coolidge broke in dryly with, "Waiter, I'll have the luncheon special." The special cost 90 cents.

HIGH-MINDED LADY

Petty and partisan politics is so general in congress that an exception gleams out like a beacon in a stormy night.

Such a distinguished exception is Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, longtime representative from Massachusetts and widely known to war veterans as an unfailing and untiring champion. Long before becoming chairman of the house veterans committee, Mrs. Rogers labored and battled for ex-servicemen.

Since becoming committee chairman, unlike some of her predecessors, Mrs. Rogers has not attempted to hog the committee's limelight. It doesn't matter to her whether the sponsor of a veterans' bill is a Republican or a Democrat. If she favors a measure, she backs it to the hilt with full credit to the author.

Trumpet Pays Off For Harry James

Arriving in San Jose on Thursday Sept. 18 is the man who has made a trumpet pay off as no other man in the nation ever has. Harry James, who is en route here with his famous Music Makers, has in the past few years achieved top standing in box-office appeal, record sales, radio popularity, and has also built up a tremendous motion picture following.

James was formerly with Benny Goodman's band and it was only seven years ago that he formed his own musical organization. Getting off to a slow start, the Music Makers gained momentum gradually, then caught on fast as a result of their hit recording, "You Made Me Love You". The band reached the top about five years ago when such tremendous crowds greeted his appearance at the Paramount Theatre in New York that resultant traffic jams and riots brought Harry and his band to the front pages of newspapers throughout the country.

Devotees of both swing and sweet music will get their opportunity to see and hear James and the Music Makers on Thursday Sept. 18 at San Jose Auditorium.

Church Music Is Sermon Topic

E.M. Borden Jr. minister of the local Church of Christ has been requested to speak upon the subject "Music In The Church". Next Sunday morning (Sept. 14th.) has been set for this sermon.

The Church of Christ does not use mechanical instruments of music in their worship, and since many are wondering just why this is, all are invited by the minister to attend this service and make the investigation for themselves.

Mr. Borden says: "The Church of Christ does not want to be contrary, or even to appear that way in the eyes of others, but we believe that the bible sets forth the kind of music the Lord wants in His worship, come hear for yourselves."

The Church of Christ meets in the Library Auditorium at the corner of First Street and Campbell Ave.

Among the happy new householder hereabouts are Mr. and Mrs. John Phillip Smith who this week completed arrangements for the purchase of a new home on San Thomas and will move in as soon as the house is ready for occupancy.

Some 250 guests attended their wedding reception in the Woman's Club house after the ceremony which took place at 2 p.m. in the church at Burbank.

Rev. J. Ryan, pastor, officiated at the marriage service.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with full overskirt of white net and a veil of the net that extended over her court train. Her gown and veil were trimmed with seed pearls and she carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli.

Her sister Miss Edna Harnish and the bridegroom's Miss Dolores Smith were bridesmaids. Miss Kay Chambers of San Francisco was maid of honor and another sister of Mr. Smith, Miss Regina Smith, played the organ for the wedding march and recessional. Miss Josephine Barbano sang the Ave Marie.

The attendants wore marquisette gowns of pale green, yellow and blue and they carried contrasting bouquets of gladioli.

The bride and her family moved to Campbell seven years ago. Dorothy graduated from Campbell High School 1942 and holds a life membership in the California Scholarship Federation. After graduation she was employed in San Jose until February 1945 when she joined the Waves and was assigned to duty in Washington, DC.

The bridegroom was graduated by Campbell High School in 1940 and served as an instructor in the US Army Signal Corps in Washington, DC, during the war.

Both the couple are students at San Jose State College where Mr. Smith majors in business administration and Mrs. Smith in social science. They will commute to school, beginning with the opening of term in October.

Since their wedding and a honeymoon at Brookdale lodge, they have lived at the Fred Smith ranch.

Readers' Opinions

To The Campbell Press:
Few residents of this district are aware of the enormous increase in building thae has taken place since the last incorporation election.
In view of the decision of the Chamber of Commerce to again bring the incorporation question before the electorate it is perhaps advisable to ascertain whether incorporation is necessary or otherwise.
I have always endeavored to show the advantages of SELF GOVERNMENT if Campbell is to be a prosperous community, and as time passes these advantages are more apparent. Incorporation is an absolute necessity, for unless we have some local form of government by men who know the district and are personally interested in its prosperity we shall remain at the mercy of county politicians.

Now is the time to make definite arrangements for the future. Streets and roads, parking spaces, recreation centers, business and industrial districts, and other questions of importance to a growing community must be considered before it is too late. A little forethought now will save considerable expense in the future.
Let us consider what has taken place within the last year. Many new sub divisions have been opened, and numerous homes erected. In districts where prune trees were recently growing, you can now observe homes.

Carlyn Avenue which contained 40 building lots is now more than half built up with good homes. North Milton avenue has 11 new homes either completed or building. Bland avenue of 24 lots is completely built up. Ester avenue of 23 lots is more than half built. There is a new subdivision started at the top of Hamilton avenue of 24 lots in which two new homes are already being built. Giles Way containing 39 lots has 16 newly erected homes. El Caminito containing 26 lots has 18 new homes either built or building. California street has 26 lots, with 12 new homes built or building. North Third street has nine new homes built or building. Many new homes have been built on North First street, North Second, Central and Harrison avenues. There are also several new homes in and near Poplar and Foote streets. Then a little further away is Robin avenue with 19 new homes, Old Orchard with six, and Emory with many more.

Unfortunately, most of these homes are selling at around $10,000 or more, and there appears to be no effort to build homes under this price range within the proposed incorporation area.

All the streets named are within the proposed Campbell City boundaries. However, before we can form any idea of the New Campbell it is also necessary to consider the adjacent territory.

I have so far dealt with residences only. Although they are of great importance, it is necessary to provide shopping districts to meet the requirements of the new residents. Many new stores have been recently erected on Winchester Rd. and Campbell avenue, but there is still room and the necessity for many more.

We have secured some new industries to provide employment for this greatly increased population, but that is not sufficient. We must provide many more who will provide year around, instead of seasonal employment. These can be found if we have an efficient local government.

Next week I will show how hundreds of homes are being built for the working classes to sell under $8000, and also give details of other adjacent new sub divisions.
(Signed) GEO. E. ARLIGE.

LEGISLATION SUPPORTS SCHOOL SAFETY PROGRAMS

Two outstanding school safety programs, the School Safety Patrols and Driver Education and Training, were accorded recognition by the 1947 California Legislature, which passed measures designed to promote these activities in the classrooms of the state. Both measures were supported by the California State Automobile Association, which for many years has actively sponsored the organization of Safety Patrols and the installation of driver training courses for high school students.

The new law relative to School Safety Patrols, effective September 19, authorizes establishment of Safety Patrols by any school district, under rules and regulations to be adopted by the State Board of Education. Patrol members are to be selected by school principals with the consent of the students and their parents or guardians.

Enlists In Navy

Ernest Ward Smith, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Smith of Sunnyside avenue, Campbell, enlisted in the Navy Aug. 29.

He is now undergoing boot training at San Diego Training Center. He formerly attended Campbell High School.

A brother, Donald A. Smith, who was a radar operator in the US Navy Reserve, received his separation for the service in June, 1946 and now a student at San Jose State College.

FELLOWSHIP CLASS

The Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational church meets this Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. During the summer, meetings have been held every other week, but beginning September 14 evening meetings will be held every Sunday. Lorraine Wood will be the worship leader at the next meeting and Richard Field will lead the discussion. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Raker are the new advisors of this group.

BOHNETT GOES FISHING

Karl Bohnett of Sanford Avenue is busy catching the "big ones that get away" this week. Bohnett left Monday for a week's fishing trip on the Spencer river near the Oregon line.

The law limits activities of the Safety Patrol to giving signals and directions enabling school pupils to cross streets and highways, but it makes violation of such a signal by a motorist a misdemeanor. Cooperation of chiefs of police and the chief of the highway patrol, within their respective jurisdictions, is authorized, as is also the expenditure of school district funds to carry out the purposes of the law.

The new driver education and training law authorizes secondary schools to give instruction in this subject. While the establishment of such courses is optional with school districts, the law requires that when the course is instituted, it becomes compulsory for all students in the school except those who have already completed the course in another school.

Supplementing this law is another measure which authorizes issuance of an instruction permit to any person who is taking a driver education course. Use of the permit is restricted to the person to whom it is issued, and only when accompanied by and under the immediate supervision of a licensed teacher.

Campbell Court Notes

By Judge Blaine

Last Saturday a rather well-known Campbell man was sentenced for 30 days to the County Jail Farm, and the Saturday before a Campbell man was sent at his own request to the State Hospital at Agnew for the "cure."

Both were cases of chronic alcoholism, and both were men who had been often arrested and that the Campbell judge had had a lot of patience with. Some people wonder why a judge would have patience with such men at all.

But our drink problem isn't simple. At least half of Americans now drink too much. Among those who have been drunk are good workers, good business men, good arresting officers, and even good judges.

One Sunday night two officers from a neighboring town brought an intoxicated prominent citizen to have him placed under complaint and on bond. The prominent one was furious. "Say," he shouted, "I just helped home and to bed my mayor, soused to the eyes!"

Now, it really hadn't been the mayor. The prominent one was merely exaggerating a bit to suggest that the sky is the limit as to what person might be found drunk on a week-end.

In these days it isn't right judgment to decide that a person who gets drunk is no good. Some very useful people get drunk, and some we could hardly do without.

Is all this to excuse drunkenness? On the contrary, it is to the moral that drunkenness itself is no legitimate excuse for being no good. Those who select this form of recreation had better prove themselves reliable and useful, not lazy drunken bums.

In other words, drunkenness is no proper shield for worthlessness. But we shouldn't take worthlessness for granted.

HISTORY OF CAMPBELL

By T. A. CUTTING

12. RANCHOS AND RODEOS

Both pueblos and mission soon came to the conclusion that herds and cereals afforded the easiest means of living. The Spaniards delighted in horsemanship and the drama of the rodeo, and the Indians with less show of enthusiasm could be induced to raise the beans and cereals. There were endless acres for grazing and rich soil for grain. The nine families who founded the pueblo of San Jose, Avila, Gonzales, Vasquez, Romero, Rosales, Alvires, Archeulta, Amesquita and Alvitre, each received a grant of land and a few head of live along with those of the mission. Other Spaniards arrived, but the growth in population was slow.

Joaquin Bernal, commissioned by King Carlos III to investigate the minerals of California, arrived in 1769. He received a grant of 10,000 acres, called the Santa Teresa Rancho, at Edenvale five miles southeast of San Jose. Of this grant, the oldest in the Santa Clara valley, 374 acres are still held by the Bernal family. The increase of his herds brought their numbers eventually to 2,100 head of cattle, 1,200 head of sheep and 53 horses. In 1855 their acreage as confirmed by the United States land commission, was cut nearly in half.

His son, Bruno Bernal, was born on the ranch in 1800. Fremont requisitioned 300 of his horses during the Mexican War. Ortega of the San Ysidro rancho, whose daughter he married, failed through neglect to retain any of his land. His sister married one of the Berryesses of the San Vincent rancho which included the Almaden mine. The mines which later yielded millions she sold for $60,000 to the Almaden Mining Company. Pedro, great grandson of Joaquin, discovered a valuable marl deposit on the ranch used as a soil fertilizer.

Luis Peralta was another of the dozen old Spanish grantees of earliest days. A member of De Anza's expedition, he was granted two sueltas in the pueblos of San Jose, and in 1820 was additionally granted the Rancho San Antonio of nearly 50,000 acres. The future sites of Alameda, Oakland and Berkeley were included in this magnificent gift! Eventually he had 8,000 cattle and 2,000 horses on his ranch. His sons staged bull fights there in later years, and matches between bulls and bears in which the long horned bulls were usually victorious. One of the Peralta adobe buildings, in a fair state of preservation, still stands in San Jose. When at a still later day Americans, eager for homes, attempted to preempt portions of their land, the Peraltas sold the Alameda site for $14,000 and Berkeley for $82,000. Don Luis died in 1851, reputed to be more than 100 years old, but no very certain records were kept at that time.

The El Camino Real (King's Highway), extending from San Diego to San Francisco, passed through San Carlos, named for the first ship to enter San Francisco bay. Here Luis Arguello, also of the De Anza expedition and one time commandante of the presidio of San Francisco, was granted El Rancho de Las Pulgas with 36,000 acres. It included all the bay frontage between Palo Alto and San Mateo and extended over the mountains to the ocean on the other side. The herds of Don Arguello, numerous as they were had ample pasturage. His rancho bounded that of the Santa Clara Mission on the northwest. Alviso, still another of the De Anza company, and long major domo of the Santa Clara mission, was grantee of the large Esteros (lagoon) Rancho at the tip of the bay.

How to climb a telephone pole

One move at a time is the best advice, any telephone lineman will tell you. While you're moving your feet upward and setting your gaffs, concentrate on the job of climbing safely. After reaching the working level, place your safety strap in position around the pole and make sure it is properly engaged with the body belt. Then lean back in your safety belt and go to work.

But it takes practice . . . and here's where the telephone linemen get it—at one of our 20 special training schools on the Coast. In two years, 5,000 new craftsmen, nearly all of them war veterans, have learned the ABC's of pole climbing at these schools . . . more men than we've ever trained before in a similar period.

They've joined 20,000 plant telephone men in the big job of catching up with the West's tremendous growth. More than a million miles of wire will be placed this year as a part of that job . . . a new record. We're going ahead as rapidly as we can to bring you an expanding, improving telephone service.

New Working Dollars . . . Millions of new dollars needed to build buildings and buy new equipment to meet the public demand for more telephones and more service do not come from telephone bills. New dollars come from people who are willing to put their savings into the business. We must earn enough to attract these new working dollars.
